Mushing a family affair for Knutsons

by Heather Raithby Dog mushing is a family affair for the Knutsen's.

Other families go skiing, we go dog mushing and winter camping," says mother Jan.

Both of her daughters, Sarah, 15, and Tammy, 16, are representing the Yukon in dog mushing.

"We train together and help each other out when we lose our dogs," says Tammy. "And there's so-meone else who's as scared as I am just before

Jan admits being a mom other.

A former great NHL hockey player was the guest speaker at the hockey banquet. Jim Peplinski, who closed his career with a Stanley Cup ring in Calgary, told his listeners he was very impressed with the calibre of play and hockey knowledge shown by northerners. Good coaching quality was very evident.

Quipped one skier at the banquet last night, some members of the N.W.T. team are not doing quite as well as they'd hoped... but it's been only two days since they first saw the Greenland twins.

Times have changed since 1970. For the first Games, cars rather than buses were the chief means of transporting participants.

One local firm which loaned seven cars to the transport committee had three of them racked up.

In all, there were 24 cars and four trucks Games.

Humble beginnings for mascot

by Brad Heath It all started with a half-pin.

When Elaine Lower of Yellowknife was approached by the AWG Host Society to design and construct Knifee, she turned to the knife-shaped pin for inspiration.

"I tried to get as close to that as possible," says Lower, who is well known in Yellowknife for constructing costumes such as the Fraggles and California Raisins for the YK Women's Bonspiel.

The creation of Knifee
—from drawing board to finished costume — took Lower from May to September of 1989.

The actual construction process took about 120 hours of trial and error," she adds.

Although Lower has never seen her creation in action firsthand, she did see Knifee performing during an evening report on CBC Television.

Her reaction? "It just seemed right to see him out there. I hope people like him."

like him."
The idea of creating an AWG mascot in the shape of a "yellow knife" came from Yellowknife students Laura Wilson, Jesse Griep, Lisa Harrison, Maria Mantla and Stacy Reid.

Elaine Lower (top photo) displays the tiny pin which was the model for creating the AWG mascot. Knifee's only colleague at this year's Games is Raven Maniac (below) of the Yukon.
